

Does your home get hot during the summer? Do you live without air conditioning?

Public Health Ontario is looking for volunteer households to join our study. This study will help us understand how hot it gets in Ontario homes without air conditioning.

If you join the study, we will mail you an easy-to-install temperature device. All you need to do is attach the device to the wall, plug it in and turn it on, and it will automatically send us updates about the temperature.

Participants will receive up to two gift cards as a thank-you for joining the study.
